The Event

High school teams from across Florida come to campus for one morning of head-to-head problem solving. Each team shares one laptop, writes real code in C/C++, Python 3, or Java, and submits solutions to an automated judge. Teams are ranked by problems solved. No generative AI — every line is the students' own.

PART OF SOMETHING BIGGER

The Code Cup opens the Florida Tech Showcase. After awards, students walk into the University AI Hackathon and Game Expo — and see where their skills lead next.

Why Sponsor?

The Code Cup is free to every school because sponsors cover it. Your support is what puts a Florida teenager in front of their first real programming contest.

ACCESS

Keep it free for every school

No entry fee and a free lunch means rural and under-resourced schools compete on the same terms as everyone else. Cost is never the reason a team stays home.

EARLY PIPELINE

Meet tomorrow's engineers first

These are the students who will fill Florida's CS and engineering classrooms — and internship slots — in a few years. Your name is the one they remember from the day they found out they could do this.

COMMUNITY

Visible to students, teachers, and parents

Coaches, teachers, and families from schools statewide see who backed the day — a direct line to the people who shape where students go next.
